DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on 5/8/03 is in compliance with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97. Accordingly, the examiner is considering the information disclosure statement.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, and 4,5,13,14,15,16,22,37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Campana et al, US Patent 6,537,733

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Campana discloses depositing a low dielectric constant layer (204) comprising silicon carbide on a substrate (200) in a processing chamber (100); introducing a processing gas into the processing chamber, the processing gas selected from the group consisting of an inert gas, a nitrating gas, or combination thereof ; generated a plasma of the processing gas in the processing chamber; and exposing the low dielectric constant layer to the plasma processing gas. See column 5, line 20 to column 7, line 30 and figures 1 and 2.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 8,9,10,11 and 18-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious over Campana et al, US 6,537,733.

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art only under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) might be overcome by: (1) a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not an invention "by another"; (2) a showing of a date of invention for the claimed subject matter of the application which corresponds to subject matter disclosed but not claimed in the reference, prior to the effective U.S. filing date of the reference under 37 CFR 1.131; or (3) an oath or declaration under 37 CFR 1.130 stating that the application and reference are currently owned by the same party and that the inventor named in the application is the prior inventor under 35 U.S.C. 104, together with a terminal disclaimer in accordance with 37 CFR 1.321(c). For applications filed on or after November 29, 1999, this rejection might also be overcome by showing that the subject matter of the reference and the claimed invention were, at the time the invention was made, owned by the same person or subject to an obligation of assignment to the same person. See MPEP § 706.02(I)(1) and § 706.02(I)(2)..

In regards to the power density, pressure and flow rates, these value would be determined through routine experimentation and would not lend themselves to patentability in the instant case, without displaying unexpected results. The value taught by Campana et al, in regards to pressure, power density and flow rate are overlapping ranges as compared to the instant application. See in Re Aller.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2, 12, 17 and 23 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: Campana fails to disclose wherein the silicon carbide has an oxygen concentration of 6% or less by atomic concentration. And wherein the process gas comprises a nitrating gas and a nitrided surface is formed on the low dielectric constant layer.

Claims 6, 7, 24, 25, and 27-36 are allowed.
